Louisiana.

[illegible] Nov. 18.—The Tribune's New [illegible] special says: This has been the [illegible] day in New Orleans since the election. [illegible] of the answer of the Republican [illegible] committee yesterday afternoon [illegible] began preparation of their re[illegible] drafts were made and discussed [illegible] was adopted until late this afternoon [illegible] was delivered to the Republicans [illegible]. The best men in both parties [illegible] to the conclusion that concert of [illegible] between visiting committees is almost [illegible] of the question. Gentlemen who have [illegible] North are on the whole as fair [illegible] as any who belong to any [illegible] the excitement of the Presidential [illegible] which all of them were engaged [illegible] so great, and the stake for which [illegible] are now playing on the soil of [illegible] so large that a majority of the [illegible] find it impossible to forget that [illegible]. The outcome of the formal [illegible]pondence now in progress therefore [illegible] be that no agreement will be [illegible] but that five representatives of each [illegible] be designated to remain and witness [illegible] of the vote and that the remainder [illegible] home within a day or two. It is [illegible] that after one or two formal letters [illegible] a joint conference may be held, [illegible] not look at all probable.

[illegible] Returning Board

[illegible] Orleans, Nov 17.—The returning [illegible] will meet at noon to-morrow. The [illegible] it is likely to transact will be [illegible] of a member to fill the vacancy [illegible]. There is some gossip afloat as [illegible] is to be made, but this is treated [illegible] matter of indifference. If [illegible], and the selection will [illegible] from that party he will only [illegible] to protest against any proceeding [illegible] his party, and refuse to [illegible] of the board. He will not be [illegible] to manage the cross examination [illegible] as during consideration of all [illegible] counsel for the Republican [illegible] State committees will be present. [illegible] general impression here is that the [illegible] board will consume the entire time [illegible] the day on which electors [illegible] to meet and cast their votes in [illegible] on the national ticket, and [illegible] the State ticket may not be offi[illegible] until some time after that. [illegible] of both State committees are [illegible] testimony bearing on the bull[illegible], and if the returning board [illegible] of it its labor would hardly be [illegible] twice the time required by law. [illegible] is similar to that which the public [illegible] acquainted with by the [illegible] in the South for the last eight [illegible] are the old stories of [illegible] whippings, threatenings, [illegible] are what he denials [illegible]. Several have made ear[illegible] efforts to trace up the stories [illegible] outrage and find out just what [illegible] forthem and the memory [illegible] made by same Republican [illegible] Louisiana have in so many in[illegible] wasted into thin air before the [illegible] of Congressional com[illegible] slow to credit them, there is [illegible] have been a reign of terror [illegible] sections of this State as [illegible] has said there was [illegible] certain facts in connection [illegible] which taken by themselves [illegible] color to the assertion but the [illegible] who desire to get at the [illegible] judgment until the testi[illegible] has been submitted to the [illegible] I say that the Democrats [illegible] a general denial, but they will do [illegible] will attempt to show [illegible] in parishes where the Republi[illegible] have been greatly cut down or [illegible] has been due to political [illegible] of the negroes. There are now in [illegible] 30 negro politicians who say [illegible] to swear before the return[illegible] if they have a chance, that they [illegible] the counties in which these revolu[illegible] in behalf of the Democratic [illegible] tickets and that wherever [illegible] they had large meetings of colored [illegible] and that they formed Democratic [illegible] in instances numbering one [illegible], and that they went to the [illegible] and voted Democratic tickets [illegible] there was any intimidation [illegible] Republicans were prevented [illegible]. The Democratic [illegible] that they have volun[illegible] by Republican officials living [illegible] parishes positively denying [illegible] of Kellogg in his dispatch to [illegible] declaring the election was a [illegible]. Besides this, they explain [illegible] of Republican votes in one [illegible] by asserting that the Republi[illegible] in this city prevented any Re[illegible] from being sent to those [illegible] orders to their friends [illegible] vote. They say they can prove [illegible] and they say finally they can [illegible] the original copies of the instruc[illegible] United States official to his sub[illegible] the polls, in which the latter [illegible] that they were expected to carry [illegible] by a given majority, and that [illegible] they did not do it they might expect noth[illegible] the Republican party. This is a [illegible] of the controversy in this State [illegible] by each side. How far there is [illegible] either remains to be seen. [illegible] board is the legal judge of it [illegible] people of the country will have [illegible] to weigh it for themselves.

New York, Nov 18.—The Times' New Or[illegible] says: The situation here to-day [illegible] unchanged. A second letter ad[illegible] by the Democrats to the Republicans [illegible] will probably close the correspondence. When the returning officers meet to[illegible] they will invite five gentlemen of [illegible] political party to be present and witness [illegible]. This will happily dispose of the [illegible] of a secret session and will give satis[illegible] to both parties. The next point is the [illegible] of a member to fill the vacancy on the returning board. I have the best reasons [illegible] the chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Louisiana will be [illegible] to name a man to fill the vacancy and [illegible] will be elected. These two points have been considered by the Republicans and the [illegible] of all the States so largely interested in the election of this State can rest assured that if the Democrats meet the Republicans in the pacific spirit which prevails to-night [illegible] will be fairly and openly made and amicably settled as speedily as possible. A number of visiting Republicans leave to[illegible].

New Orleans, Nov 18.—At 12 o'clock there was quite a gathering at the rooms of the returning board. Messrs. Casanova and Wells of the board were there. Judge Trumbull, Judge Stalls, Gov. Palmer and ex-Gov. McEnery, of the Northern Democrats, and the Democratic committee which has charge of the evidence to be presented on the part of the Democrats, were present. There were a number of Republicans also present. There was a delay in the meeting on the part of the board, on account of the absence of Messrs. Anderson and Kenner. The board met at [illegible], and authorized the sergeant-at-arms to [illegible] a room for the meetings of the board. [illegible], offered by General Anderson, [illegible] the presence of five gentlemen from [illegible] out of Northern Democrats and [illegible] in the city was adopted. Col. [illegible] filed a plea to the jurisdiction of the board which thereafter went into executive session.

New Orleans, Nov 18.—The secretary of the board reported that the election returns from thirty-one parishes had been filed with him. There are yet thirty-six parishes to arrive. A question was raised as to whether the board could begin the compilation and canvass until all of the returns had been received. It was determined however to commence on Monday, the 20th inst., and to take up parishes either alphabetically or by Congressional districts.

The Chairman of the Democratic committee on elections and returns requested to know whether the presence of counsel representing the Democratic candidates would be allowed during the deliberations of the board. The president replied only in cases where disputed points arose, when counsel for both parties would be called. He added that counsel would be permitted to inspect the returns when they were opened in order to see whether they had been tampered with. Colonel Zacharie, of counsel for the Democratic candidates, filed a plea against the constitutionality of the board and a protest against certain actions. The following grounds were set forth:

First. By the section creating the board of returning officers there is no time fixed for the term of officers. By the same section it is provided that in case of any vacancy by death, resignation or otherwise by either of the board, then the vacancy shall be filled by the residue of the board, thus creating a board with power of perpetuating itself indefinitely and conferring said power, in certain contingencies, upon a single person. That said board is authorized to canvass and return as elected members of the legislature, and said members are alone authorized to participate in the organization of either branch of the legislature, and said legislature so constituted under act 4th, title 3 of the constitution of the State of Louisiana shall examine and count the votes for Governor and Lieutenant Governor. The direct, immediate effect of all which is to place the power in the hands of five persons or ultimately in the hands of one person and his appointees for all time to determine of what persons shall be constituted the executive and legislative branches of the State Government. That said act in said respect is in direct conflict with the constitution of the United States and the State of Louisiana, as creating a government not Republican in form or character.

Second. By the act under which the board claims to proceed the said board is vested with powers judicial in their character, and in that respect the act is in conflict with sec. 94 of the Constitution of the State of Louisiana.

Third. That if the constitutionality of the law were established beyond question, we again object and protest, and except to the manner in which the present acting board is constituted. The act of 1872, section 2, provides that fifteen persons, to be elected by the Senate from all political parties, shall be the returning officers for all elections in the State. We except, object and protest that the act has not been complied with, as none of the members now composing said board are members of the Democratic Conservative party, and therefore said board is not constituted as required by law.

Fourth. On behalf of the Democratic electors, counsel protested against the counting and compilation of the vote for A B Levissee and O H Brewster, Republican electors, on the ground that when Brewster was voted for he was occupying the position of U S Surveyor General, and that A B Levissee was U S Commissioner, and ineligible according to article 2, section 2 of the Constitution of the United States. The board will determine on Monday whether the argument will be permitted.

No election was held to fill the vacancy on the board, which adjourned until noon Monday.

Invitation to Witness the Count

New Orleans, Nov. 18.—The following communication was forwarded to the visiting Republicans, and similar documents were sent to the Democrats. Their reply will be telegraphed when made:

Office of Board of Returning Officers,
New Orleans, Nov 18, 1876.

To Hon John Sherman, St Charles Hotel, New Orleans, La.—Sir: At a meeting of the board of returning officers, held this day, the following preamble and resolutions, introduced by General Thomas C Anderson, were unanimously adopted, viz:

Whereas, This board has learned with satisfaction that distinguished gentlemen of national reputation from other States have come at the request of the President of the United States, and some at the request of the national executive committee of the Democratic party, are present in this city with a view to witness the proceedings of this board in canvassing and compiling the returns of the recent election in this state for Presidential electors, in order that public opinion of the country may be satisfied as to the truth of the result and fairness of the means by which it may have been attained; and

Whereas, This board recognizes the importance which may attach to the result of their proceedings, and that the public mind should be convinced of its justice by a knowledge of the facts on which it may be based; therefore be it

Resolved, That this board does hereby cordially invite and request five gentlemen from each of the two bodies named, to be selected by themselves respectively, to attend and be present at the meetings of this board while engaged in the discharge of its duties under the law, in canvassing and compiling the returns and ascertaining and declaring the result of said election for Presidential electors, in their capacity as private citizens of eminent reputation, high character and as spectators of the proceedings in that behalf of this board.

Respectfully, etc., J. MADISON WELLS,
President of the Returning Officers.

The Reply.

To which the following answer has been sent:

St Charles Hotel,
New Orleans, Nov 18.

To Hon J Madison Wells—Sir: I have received your note of to-day with a copy of the resolution of the board of returning officers of the State of Louisiana, and have communicated the invitation contained in it to the gentlemen who are here at the request of the President of the United States to witness the canvassing of the vote at the election in this State for President and electors, and I am instructed by them to inform you of their acceptance of the invitation, and that they will designate a committee of five of their number to attend the meetings of the board; and I take this occasion to express my thanks for the courteous terms of this invitation, my deep sense of the importance of your proceedings, and my confident hope that they will be so conducted as to convince the public mind of the justice of your finding.

Very respectfully yours, JOHN SHERMAN.

The Republicans' Rejoinder

New Orleans, Nov 19.—The following is the Republicans' reply to the letter of the Democrats:

Gentlemen: We are gratified to learn that we have misapprehended the language and spirit of your communication of November 11th, and that we were in error in attributing to you a purpose to interfere with the [illegible] constitutional and [illegible] duties of [illegible] State in the discharge of their [illegible]. [illegible] this misapprehension is the natural result of the language of [illegible]. Your request was [illegible] that [illegible] may be exercised, and [illegible] we [illegible] a canvass of the votes actually cast as [illegible] fairness and impartiality [illegible] respect and acquiescence of the American people. This as we understand it was a request to co-operate with you [illegible] influencing the action of the returning board in the discharge of its duties. The President [illegible] requested us to attend there to witness [illegible] influence such canvass and [illegible] such request by him was [illegible] us to witness the count of the votes actually cast, but the entire proceedings of the board in reaching a result as to votes legally cast to be counted. We are gratified to learn that you concur with the President and with us in this understanding. You also state you are fully aware that both the organization and action, whether judicial or ministerial, of the returning board of Louisiana was beyond any authority or control from without, and that it would be the height of arrogance and folly to attempt to deter the action of a State of which we are not citizens, or obtrude our interpretation of the laws upon those whose duty it is to administer them. We may therefore, as we think, assume that you will agree with us that it would be arrogance equally to attempt by our concurrent action to influence the proceedings or result of courts of justice or of boards acting judicially, and hence we are gratified at being able from the language and tenor of your letter to assume that you did not wish to confer with us for the purpose of influencing the action of the returning board, but only to secure such co-operation on our part as will enable us jointly with yourselves to witness the proceeding throughout. A conference for such purpose would now seem to be unnecessary, as we learn from a communication just received from the board, which appears to us to accomplish that object which by your note you desire to attain by the proposed conference. We will add that it is very apparent that if you wish as to secure a fair and honest expression of the electoral vote of Louisiana there is no difference between ourselves and you, except as to our conduct in reference to that result. You have proposed a conference and active association in influence. This we regard as beyond our duty or our privilege as individuals. We shall be happy at all times to confer with you, and as individuals to co-operate in whatever shall be right, but concurrent action for the purpose of influencing an official board we should consider to be beyond our privilege, and we shall hope that all may come to pass which good citizens can wish without the use of any such means. We remain, gentlemen, very respectfully, John Sherman, Stanley Matthews, J A Garfield of Ohio, E W Stoughton, J Van Allen of New York, W D Kelley of Pennsylvania, John L Stevenson of Ohio, Eugene Hale, Maine, J M Tuttle, J M Chapman, William R Smith, W A McGrew, of Iowa, Sydney Clark, J C Watson of Kansas, C A Farwell, Abner Taylor, J M Beardsley, T R Haven of Illinois, John Coburn, Will Cumback of Indiana, C Irving Ditty of Maryland.

Going to Florida

New Orleans, Nov 18.—Ex-Gov. E T Noyes of Ohio, Gen. Lew Wallace of Indiana and Hon John A Kasson of Iowa left this morning by rail for Florida.

Gen. John Coburn, Hon. Will Cumback, and Judge Stanley Matthews, departed homeward this afternoon.

The High Joint Wit[illegible]

New Orleans, Nov 18.—The visiting Democrats here appointed the following gentlemen to remain here and be present to witness the counting of the votes by the returning board: John M. Palmer, of Illinois, Lyman Trumbull, of Illinois, Wm. Bigler of Pennsylvania, Geo. B. Smith, of Wisconsin, and P. H. Watson of Ohio.

South Carolina.

The Tribune's Columbia special to Senator Doolittle says the majority is 1,200 for Tilden now being counted, but I cannot give you the exact figures on that of Wade Hampton. The Democrats are anxiously awaiting for the official report on the electoral ticket.

Approaching the End

Columbia, Nov 18.—The State board of canvassers have tabulated the returns for all State officers except governor and lieutenant governor. From the face of the returns of the county canvassers the vote is close, and results so doubtful that it will take correction of numerous clerical errors to determine the successful candidates. The returns show that Hayne, Republican, is re-elected secretary of State by 227 majority; Elliott, Republican, attorney general by seven votes; Hagood, Democrat, comptroller general by 256 majority; Thompson, Democrat, superintendent of education by 422 majority; Kennedy, Republican, by 101, and Cardozo, Republican, by 208. Corrected returns will change these results on Monday so as to give the attorney generalship to the Democrats and the superintendent of education to the Republicans. Hampton's majority is about 1,144 over Chamberlain.

The result of the tabulating returns of the county canvassers gives the State to the Hayes electors by a majority varying from 230 to 1143. Counsel for the Democrats immediately filed exception to the aggregation on the ground of irregularities, errors and omissions between the managers' returns and the statements of the county canvassers, which they claim vitiates the above result. The supreme court will, it is understood, direct the board in its duties as to the final count.

600 Majority.

Washington, Nov 18.—Congressman Hoge telegraphs Chandler from Columbia, S. C., as follows: The board of State canvassers have finished the count. Hayes and Wheeler's majority is 600. This is official.

The Times' Columbia special says the board of canvassers completed the count for Presidential electors, and at 1 o'clock the announcement was made of the result. The highest Republican Elector receives 964 majority over the highest Democratic Elector, and the lowest Republican Elector has 265 majority over the highest Democratic Elector. Ten representatives from each political party were present during the count. Two Republican and two Democratic clerks verified the tally lists. The seven votes of South Carolina are for Hayes in spite of everything.

The Times' special from Columbia, S. C., says the Democrats residing here appear to be much better satisfied with the result as announced by the board than the men sent down from the North to count the State in for Tilden. All South Carolina Democrats here hoped for the election of Hampton. It is probable that this is secured, provided the board shall not be permitted to go back of the face of the returns. The other State officers are in more doubt, as well as the legislature. If Edgefield county, where 2,000 more votes were returned than there are voters, should be thrown out of the count, or the returns corrected in accordance with the facts, the whole Republican State ticket will be elected, with a Republican majority in the legislature. The decision of the court on the powers of the board in this regard is expected on Monday. Meantime they will proceed with the count of the vote for State officers.

New York, Nov 19.—The Times' summary says: Rightfully Hayes' majority in South Carolina should have been 4,000 instead of 1,000. In regard to Louisiana it says no noise is made about that State, but the real work is being done in Florida, where Hayes has a majority beyond a doubt, and he holds by repeating the assertion that Gov. Hayes is elected President.

The War of Races

Charleston, Nov 18.—A dispatch from Stafford Crossroads says there was a fight there yesterday lasting until dark between [illegible] whites and 300 [illegible] negroes. No [illegible] reported hurt. Twenty-five citizens arrested under the enforcement act were brought to Aiken from the Ellenton section [illegible].

[illegible] particulars of the affair at Stafford Cross-roads had been received up to 11 P. M., except that only two [illegible] Deputy Marshal [illegible] Sherman [illegible] arrest of [illegible] and that early to-day [illegible] sent [illegible] which [illegible] said to have been sent.

Florida

New York, Nov 18.—The Times says from [illegible] From Florida we have a brief but [illegible] report [illegible] the State is all right. Nothing whatever from the other States.

Florida Returning Board

New York, Nov 19.—The World's Tallahassee special says: The Democratic State Committee have addressed a communication to the members of the board of State canvassers, requesting them to proceed at once to canvass the returns so far as received. They set forth the probability that the contests will require some time for determination, and quote the law requiring the issuance of certificates by the Governor on December 6th. Interviews with members of the board indicate an apparent certainty that the board will refuse to commence the canvass as requested, but will postpone it till it will be too late for the Democrats to secure a full hearing. This has put them to looking into the authority under which the board is acting, and it is quite probable proceedings will be commenced promptly to see if the board can not be forced to commence canvassing, or whether it can not be restrained by injunction from exercising any judicial functions at all. Controller Cowgill, member of the board, quoted the law to the reporter which says the board shall meet on the thirty-fifth day after the election, or sooner if the returns are all in. He said he should be bound by that law, and added the returns are not all in. Judge Cocke, another member of the board, said he should accede to the request of the committee and give an opinion that the law admitted the right to make a scrutinizing canvass of the returns as they come in. W. E. Chandler says it appears as if the whole white population of Florida were a police board, detective force and affidavit workers for the Democrats, while we have only a witness scattered about here and there. Official returns from four counties were received yesterday. Walton shows a Democratic loss of 27 from the committee's estimate, and Marion a Republican loss of 10 from the same estimate. Others agree exactly with what was claimed.

Florida Still in Doubt.

Tallahassee, Nov 18.—Both parties still claim the State on Presidential as well as gubernatorial ticket. The Democratic committee arranged to have sworn duplicates made of the official returns in each county and forwarded. They have received these from all save five counties, all Democratic. Their estimates based on these unofficial copies of the official returns give Drew and Tilden both a clean majority. The Republicans will furnish no figures, stating they will await the official returns. It is claimed Tilden will have a majority of some three or four hundred on returns as made officially by the county canvassers. Republicans claim that while admitting this they will be able by proving frauds to overcome the prima facie majority and establish the State for Hayes. The fight before the State board will be very bitter. The Democrats, besides defending their majority for Tilden, will attack the returns in Jefferson and Leon counties, which are the Republican strongholds. They claim to have discovered glaring frauds in Alachua, where the returns of election inspectors were raised 219 votes, and their names forged to new returns. The board of State canvassers this morning replied to an application of the Democratic committee, declining to commence the canvass at present, Cocke, Dem., voting aye, and McLin and Cowgill, Rep., voting nay. The Republicans declined on the ground that the law reads "On the thirty-fifth day after the election, or sooner if all returns are in, the canvass of the vote shall be begun," and as that time has not yet expired and all returns are not yet in, they can not legally begin work. The Democrats claim there is a clause allowing the canvassers to begin at any time and canvass such returns as have not arrived, not closing the canvass to the exclusion of any county for non-arrival, until the thirty-fifth day has come. Steps will probably be taken to see if there is not in the Supreme Court some power to force the canvassers to begin work.

New York, Nov 19.—The Times' Tallahassee dispatch says: The past twenty-four hours has thrown little more light on the political position. It is of a character still more favorable for Hayes and the Republican State candidates. Official returns have been received from Walton and Holmes counties, which reduce the Democratic claims. There are still Democratic counties to hear from officially. Returns from eight of these should have been received some days ago, and there is every reason for apprehension that they are kept back for the purpose of being manipulated to suit the requirements of Democrats. It should be borne in mind that all Democratic counties, with three exceptions, are in the hands of Democratic officials, and these officials have in several instances given evidence of their willingness to perform any act of political rascality which Democratic leaders may require of them. For instance in 1872, when the returns came to hand from Democratic officials of Jackson county, the Democratic candidate for governor, who received only 939 votes, was credited with 1,329; the Republican candidate, who received 1,109, was only credited with 709, and so on through the whole list of candidates. This was not disproved at the time, and it can not be now. Similar frauds are shown to have been attempted in four Democratic counties in the present canvass. Returns from Volusia had been tampered with and made to show a fictitious majority. If further opposition had not become so important an element in the national contest, the absurd claims of the Democrats to have carried the State would long have been abandoned.

Tallahassee, Fla., Nov 19.—There is great excitement over the discovery of the daring coup de etat which the Governor is discussing the policy of executing. On last Tuesday Judge Emmons, the shrewdest lawyer in the State on the Republican side, reached the city and was closeted with the Governor for several days. To-day it was ascertained that Governor Stearns was thinking of denying to the State board of canvassers the right to canvass the returns for the electoral ticket, and taking that power, together with all questions pertaining to that canvass, to himself. It was ascertained that Judge Emmons was preparing an elaborate opinion sustaining him in this position. The Democrats immediately waited on Governor Stearns through their executive committee and desired to know whether he contemplated taking such a step. He replied he was then considering as to whether it was not his duty under the law to himself canvass the Presidential vote and issue electoral certificates upon his interpretation of that vote. He further stated that Judge Emmons was then engaged in preparing an opinion upon that question. The committee then offered its formal protest to the Governor taking such a step, and asked if they would be allowed to file a counter opinion to that of Judge Emmons and protest against the usurpation. He replied yes, if they considered it necessary. They desired to know, after he had determined to canvass the vote himself and all motions to restrain him from so doing had failed, if they would be allowed to come before him in defense of their own majorities if they should be attacked, and in an exposure of frauds by which certain counties were given to the Republicans. He replied if he should decide to canvass the State himself he would give the committee a full hearing on all questions involving the integrity of the vote. The indignation of the Democrats at the proposed step of the Governor knows no bounds. Northern gentlemen here are more outspoken in their denunciation of it than the local politicians. Marble utterly [illegible] and opposed the policy of the Democrats going to him under what he thought was an insane supposition. He is very much [illegible] to find now that the Governor is seriously entertaining such a scheme.

New York, Nov 19.—In an interview with the Herald reporter to-day Manton Marble said every county in Florida had reported [illegible]. [illegible] the day after the election, when the heavy majorities given by the Republican counties [illegible] of Hayes and Wheeler and the Republican State ticket became generally known, the Democratic leaders virtually threw up the sponge and conceded the election to their opponents, but when the extraordinary intelligence flashed over the wires that the result of the Presidential election depended upon the vote of Florida, the Democrats, excited by this unexpected condition of affairs, and spurred up by telegrams from the North, took back their concessions and claimed a victory for their candidates. The returns of Democratic counties within reach of telegrams, and which had been already heard from, were immediately subjected to a process of expansion. For instance, in Monroe county the Democratic majority was returned at 60. It was raised to 30[illegible] when the national situation became known. Orange county was officially heard from as giving 300 Democratic majority, although one of the most inaccessible counties in the State and at least four days distant from this place; but these tactics were soon discovered by the Republicans, and every means possible to secure true returns of the actual votes cast. To-day the Democratic leaders who are here from the North are very much discouraged in the face of the fact that with all the doctoring done by Democratic officials the returns, with any revision or throwing out, will show a majority for Hayes. Yesterday a committee of Democrats waited on the governor and asked him if it was his intention to act with reference to canvassing for the electoral vote as had been done in 1872. On that occasion Gov. Reed canvassed the electoral vote from a copy of the returns which the law directs to be sent to the governor, and gave the electors their certificates before the canvassing board met. The Governor replied that in such a crisis he would not do so without hearing from both sides in the matter. The Democrats do not wish him to canvass the vote, as they know the returns will show a majority for Hayes, and their only hope is in securing the rejection of the vote of some large Republican counties on the ground of fraud.

Preparing for a Peaceful Inauguration

The Tribune's Washington special says: In military and naval circles it is believed orders will soon be issued directing preparations to be made for the concentration of a sufficient force at Washington to quiet all apprehensions that are felt in the country of revolutionary demonstrations occurring to interfere with the counting of the electoral vote, or of the inauguration of the legally chosen President. Army officers state that a force of 12,000 infantry and artillery could, in two or three weeks' time, be assembled in the forts near Washington, and well informed officers in the navy department say that about thirty of the most formidable ships of war in the service are now in harbors on the coast, between Maine and the Mississippi, comprising all the iron clads fitted out when hostilities with Spain were considered imminent. All these vessels could be readily brought to Washington if any emergency should arise requiring their presence. It may be stated positively that the administration does not regard the blustering of the politicians or the threats of partisan newspapers as indicating a purpose on the part of any considerable body of citizens to resist the consummation of the election in case the legally ascertained result does not correspond with their wishes. President Grant and his advisers believe the masses of the people of both parties will acquiesce in the result, whatever it may be. No needless expense will be incurred for the groundless fears aroused by the concentration of armed forces at the capitol, unless a step should be required by a menace to the public peace which ought not to be disregarded. At the same time it may as well be known to all men who imagine that the lawless may install a President whom the laws don't elect, that any attempt in that direction would be madness. The President, mindful of his oath, will see to it that the constitution and the laws are enforced, and will have ample powers at his command to do so. No mob will interfere with the orderly count of the votes of the States by the two houses of Congress, or with the inauguration of the successful candidate.

A Sensational Report Explained.

Sensational reports were published in several Democratic newspapers yesterday relative to the unusual activity and warlike preparations in the Brooklyn navy yard. The Times' reporter called upon Commodore Nicholson last evening to ascertain upon what foundation the rumors were based. "There is nothing to report at all," said the officer; "if any orders had come from Washington to put the navy yard on a war footing, they would have passed through my hands;" and he then proceeded to say that the Swatara, which has been undergoing repairs at the yard for some time, will soon be ready for service, when she will proceed to Norfolk and join the South Atlantic squadron. As work has been going on for some time it has no connection whatever with the present political excitement. The Commodore also said that the complement of men in the North Atlantic squadron was not full, and enlistments to fill vacancies were being made more or less actively all the time. When men were enlisted they were put through a course of drilling and instructions to fit them for their duties. This instruction was given on the flagship Minnesota, and as soon as they were properly drilled they were distributed to vessels needing additional seamen.

Pacific News.

The Times' Washington special says: No orders was issued from the War Department in reference to the movement of troops in the Southern States, as was intimated yesterday. No disturbances are apprehended, and no immediate occasion is known to exist requiring reinforcements to be sent to either of the three States where the election returns are in controversy. Troops were sent to Louisiana, South Carolina and Florida simply to preserve the peace, and a sufficient force is now in the States named for that purpose. However, additional and adequate reinforcements will be promptly forwarded. It may be well to note that all talk of resort to force to defeat the inauguration of the Republican candidate who may be declared elected is observed to come from non-combatants in the late war. Soldiers on both sides are willing to yield to the result as legally declared.

Missouri Congressional Election

St Louis, Nov 18.—The question as to who was elected to Congress from the third district of this city has not been decided yet, and has been a matter of much comment. Some excitement throughout the city. Yesterday two members of the county court, with the clerk, met as a canvassing board, and began an examination of the county returns previous to certifying them to the Secretary of the State. It appears that from one of the precincts 272 votes had been returned for Frost, Democratic candidate, but that after the returns reached the county clerk's office these figures were changed to 292. The county clerk had no knowledge of this change, yet he stated he believed that the returns had been tampered with in this office, and wished the matter to be investigated. The canvassers, having only ministerial powers, decided they could not go behind the face of the returns, and therefore counted the 292 votes for Frost. This gave the latter a majority of one, whereas had the original figures been counted Metcalf, Rep., would have had a majority. While the proceedings were being had in the clerk's office Mr Metcalf applied to the circuit court for a mandamus to stop proceedings. The writ was issued, and transmission of the returns to the Secretary of State was stopped until the case can be heard before the court on Monday. The object of the mandamus is to prevent the issuance of a certificate of election to Frost. Just prior to serving the writ of mandamus on the board of canvassers Col. Burrard, accompanied by U. S. Deputy Marshal [illegible], arrived at the county clerk's office with authority to arrest the canvassers and their legal advisers on the charge of falsifying the returns, but the action of the circuit court [illegible] them and they have deferred action for the present.

Fixing up the Postmasters

Montpelier, Nov 18.—The House to-day finally passed the bill for the vacancy in the electoral college, 129 to 13. The act is specially designed to meet the case of H N Sollace, said to be ineligible.

Official Vote of Maryland.

Baltimore, Nov 18.—The official vote of Maryland for President and Vice President is: For Tilden 91,780, Hayes 71,981. Tilden's majority 10,789. Official majorities for Congress: First district, M. Henry, 3,384; second, Chas. B. Roberts, 3,019; third, Wm. Kimmel, [illegible]well 5,659; fourth, Thos. Swan, 2,593; fifth, Eli Henkle, 2,731; sixth, Wm. Walsh, 14.

The Times' Washington special says that a final count for member of Congress in the 6th Maryland district gives the count to McComas, Republican, over Walsh by nine majority. This will leave the house 144 Republicans, 146 Democrats—3 to be elected.

Virginia's Vote.

Richmond, Nov 18.—Returns from all counties have been received by the Secretary of State, showing the vote for Tilden and Hendricks electors 139,512, and Hayes and Wheeler electors 95,268. Tilden's majority, 44,244.

The Herald's Summary.

New York, Nov 19.—The following is the Herald's summary of the political situation: The confusion daily becomes more confounded in the knotty question who has secured the electoral vote of the three disputed States. South Carolina was provisionally scored yesterday for Hayes by the precise action of the State canvassers under the order of the Supreme Court, which the day before was deemed to give it to Tilden. The tabulated returns give part of the State officers to each party.

Florida furnishes a complete surprise in the proposal of Gov. Stearns to himself canvass the vote for electors, on the assumption that as the State statute creating and defining the duties of the state board omit to charge that body with counting votes for electors, and as it is his duty to issue to electors their certificates of appointment, he must make a compilation of county returns to ascertain who are chosen to office by the popular suffrage. This reasoning and proposed action produced consternation among the Democratic leaders, and was met by the most severe denunciation.

At New Orleans no startling developments occurred. A resolution was adopted by the returning board inviting representatives of both parties to witness the proceedings, and the Republican visitors replied to the latest missive from the Democrats. These latter appear to have been much disturbed in their calculations by the reports from South Carolina. A dispatch says the matter stands now in a muddle. It remains to be seen whether the Democrats will make a fight against the electoral ticket on exceptions taken by them to-day that will determine as to the [illegible] of the State ticket, the aggregation of which is now in progress by the board. It is more than probable, if the Democrats are successful in electing the governor and State officers, and have a bare majority in the legislature which will give them a U. S. Senator, with the two Congressmen they have gained, they will be content and abandon any immediate fight on the electoral result. It was announced to-day that this would end the agony here for the present, and if Tilden gets the vote of either Florida or Louisiana it would be ended forever. Should the opposite be the case, a terrible contest, both in the legislature, the courts and in Congress, would be inevitable. The Republicans may, if the board of canvassers are now forced to go behind the returns of the county canvassers, and a fight is made over the electoral result, the whole question of fraud, intimidation and illegal voting will be opened up, in which event they claim that the Democrats would get the worst of it, and perhaps lose everything.

Capture of the Desecrators of Lincoln's Tomb.

Chicago, Nov 18.—At a late hour last night U. S. detectives Tyrell and Washburne, with the aid of two local detectives, captured the two men who attempted to steal the bones of President Lincoln from the vault in Springfield, Illinois, on the night of Nov. 7th. They are Terrence Mullen, alias T. Dacey, the proprietor of the Hub saloon, 294 North Madison street, where the arrest was made, and Jack Hughes, alias J. Smith, an old counterfeiter connected with the notorious Ben Boyd. These men have been shadowed since the attempt was made to despoil the tomb, and their guilt is said to be proven. Officers will take them to Springfield this evening to await indictment and trial.

During the last year not less than 30,000 head of beef cattle have been driven from Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington down towards the Pacific railroad, some of them going East and some to San Francisco. A gentleman who is a large stock raiser in Wasco county informs the Mountaineer that he has been offered $23 per head coin for 1,000 head of beef cattle delivered at Red Bluffs, California. This is considered a good price, but it was not accepted, as it is thought good large cattle are worth that here, at The Dalles. The price now ranges from 3½ to 4 cents per pound net.

The Douglas county Independent says: The stock of the Lucky Queen mine is still advancing in price, and is now held at $2 per share. During the week Mr J N Barker was offered $[illegible]00 for 7,000 shares, and since then inquiries have been made for stock at an advance of twenty-five and fifty cents per share on Mr Barker's offer. The late developments in the mine make stockholders determined to hold on and refuse all offers, and we doubt if at the present writing a single share could be purchased in the city for $2 per share. As soon as the mill is got in running order—delayed now owing to heavy rains in the mountains—stock will still further advance.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, NOV. 20, 1876.

WHAT IS THE MATTER?

Wednesday morning, after the election, the Chicago Tribune, one of the staunchest as well as one of the ablest Republican journals of this country, opened its leading editorial with the following paragraph:

> When we write these lines all the indications are that Samuel J. Tilden has been elected President of the United States. The majority in the electoral college is small but all sufficient. The vote of the Solid South with that of New York, Connecticut, New Jersey and Indiana has decided that there shall be a change.

Then followed not a lecture to Tilden on his duties and responsibilities such as were delivered by the New York papers, but an explanation of the causes which had brought about the unhappy result. The view of that paper on the point, as well as the tone and spirit in which it accepted the situation, may be seen in this extract:

> It is not difficult to discover wherein the Republican party has been overcome in this election. Four years ago there was a large defection of some of the best and ablest Republicans in the country, caused by dissatisfaction not with the principles of the Republican party, but with the general character of the men then administering the government. The people, however, were not prepared to hand over the government to the Democratic party, and the Republican administration was continued. The men in office chose to regard this as a personal vindication, and, heedless of the great popular demand for reform, they grew bolder in their conduct. Then came popular indignation, as shown in the election of 1874, and when 1876 opened it was certain that unless the Republican party could give the nation an assurance of its purpose to reform the administrative policy of the government the party could not retain control of the government.

In this strain the article continued for nearly a column, laying bare the skeleton in the Republican closet, with a hand that showed no respect to persons or parties. The strictures of the Tribune are none the less applicable, if it should turn out that instead of losing the election the Republicans have won it by a majority of one vote in the electoral college. But for the rottenness of the public service under the present administration, the Republicans would not now be figuring on precincts and wards in the South to get a majority of the electoral vote, with a majority of the popular votes already recorded against them, but would have a good round majority without any of the Southern States, and the five States of North and South Carolina, Florida, Louisiana and Mississippi to give their victory a Southern flavoring, besides being backed by a handsome majority of the popular vote. In the States east of the Rocky mountains, the party conventions, not content to enter the race with the burden which the mere fact of their political relations with the administration naturally imposed, burdens heavy enough surely, committed the folly of handicapping their candidates with a direct endorsement of the President. Republicans who were well informed as to the temper of the masses of the party, warned the managers of the danger they incurred in doing this, just as the OREGONIAN warned them in this State; but unlike the managers of the convention in Oregon, those in the Eastern States, without an exception, so far as we recollect, wrongly attributing the warning to animosity toward the administration, disregarded it, and lost Indiana and New York, and possibly the nation. Democratic gains all over the East, caused by defections in the Republican party, contrasted with heavy Republican gains, a solid Republican party, and handsome Republican majority, in Oregon, demonstrates the correctness of the Chicago Tribune's view of the troubles that have overtaken the Republican party.

THE WAY THE SAINTS CARRY AN ELECTION

A correspondent of the Salt Lake Tribune gives an account of the way the Mormons in that Territory managed the election and obtained their overwhelming majority. The writer relates his own experience and says his case is like hundreds of others. When he went up to the polls, the first object that met his gaze inside the window where the voting was being done, was one of the Mormon Elders sitting as judge of election, with the ballot-box at one elbow and a whisky bottle at the other. The correspondent, who was an ungodly gentile, gave his name to the clerk and handed his folded ballot to the judge, when he was accosted by an individual so recently sent over from Europe by one of the Mormon missionary agencies that he had not acquired even a tolerable degree of skill in using the English language. This individual, who could be understood not without much difficulty, demanded to know of the gentile if he was "local woter." On being answered that the applicant for the privilege of the ballot was a native born citizen of the United States, and had attained his majority a good many years, the challenger made the objection that he was not a taxpayer, as the law requires he must be before voting in that territory. The voter said the assessment roll would show that he was a taxpayer upon property of the value of some thousands of dollars. Thereupon the challenger demanded that the judge, between whom and himself there appeared to be a perfect understanding, should examine a book he had in his pocket and ascertain whether this man was a taxpayer. The judge pulled from his pocket a greasy memorandum book and ran over the pages rapidly for a moment and then said: "Your name does not appear in the list of taxpayers which I have taken from the assessor's books for this occasion. You can not vote unless you go and see the assessor and get his certificate that you are a taxpayer." The voter rushed off in search of the assessor, another Mormon, but that functionary was conveniently undiscoverable. At his office they said he was at his residence. At his residence they said he had gone to a sorghum mill hard by. At the sorghum mill they said he had not been there for a month and they had no idea where he was. So the gentile was denied the privilege of voting. At the same poll, a large number of Mormons voted, whose names were not on the assessment roll for a cent. By this means the Mormon vote was swelled, and the gentile vote reduced till the Mormon majority is overwhelming. Finding it unsafe to continue operations in the Mountain Meadows line to suppress the growing influence of the gentiles in the Territory, the church of thugs issues orders to its Elders and other officials to see to it that the desired end is accomplished through fraud and perjury.

THE DISPUTED STATES.

A few days since we remarked that we were inclined to the opinion that if none of the fraudulent votes were cast out by the returning boards the Democrats would have a majority of two at least of the disputed Southern States. The Democratic organs forthwith seized upon this and tortured it into an admission that a fair count would give those States to Tilden. We ought, we suppose, to have learned by this time that there is nothing in the way of perverting the truth which the average organ will not stoop to; but we confess to having been surprised to see them go so far as to misrepresent so grossly when there was no room for two interpretations of our language. We see no reason in the reports thus far received to change our opinion on this matter. There is no sort of doubt that thousands of fraudulent votes were cast for the Democratic candidates in Florida and Louisiana, and, in fact, in Southern States where there was supposed to be the least danger of a Republican victory, and we have been and are inclined to the opinion that the Democratic managers slightly underestimated the number of votes necessary to carry South Carolina, and lost the State by a few hundred. They set the figures light enough in the other two doubtful States to let them in if they can get all these fraudulent votes counted. But that they will get them counted, is not, according to present appearances, at all probable. We shall give it up when the returning boards come to the conclusion that the Democratic managers have so fortified their frauds with the affidavits of paid witnesses as to render it impossible to purge the poll lists. Till then, while we may not hope to see all or the half of the fraudulent votes cast out, we shall hope to see enough of them ferreted out and stricken from the lists as to enable the boards to declare the same result as if all the fraudulent thousands were cast out. If only this be done, Hayes will be elected President and the country will be safe from Democratic misrule for four years more at least.

The Washington Chronicle is of opinion that "the fear that a blow was to be leveled at our public schools by the Democratic party has been more than justified by the election of Blue Jeans Williams to the governorship of Indiana. To deliberately place in nomination a man whose language proclaims his want of the commonest of common school education, and whose speech is even worse than his clothes, is offering a premium upon ignorance; and when the Democrats elected a creature of this kind they deliberately proclaimed to the world that they would sooner accept a demagogue because he used bad grammar, than a sterling man. Indeed, Harrison was rejected by the Hoosier Democrats simply because he was an educated man. A people that can do this are the enemies of the public school system of the United States, no matter how strenuously they may, for political effect, insist that they are its friends."

The Washington Chronicle says the election of Tilden would be followed by "an early dismissal" of large numbers of Government clerks and other officers and employes about Washington, and contemplating this sad picture, it comes up short with an frightened "What then?" Really we can not see anything so very alarming in the case. The individuals receiving the early dismissal could go to work at some honest business and earn their living just as other people as good as themselves have to do—that is those of them who are too high toned to do as many politicians at the National Capitol are said to do.

The vote of South Carolina as counted by the returning board under direction of the Supreme Court, throwing out none of the illegal votes, shows a majority for the Republican Presidential Electors and a part of the State ticket, and a Democratic majority on a part of the State ticket. Whether this result will be allowed to stand seems a question among the politicians there, but it may be safely assumed that any change that may be made in it by casting out the illegal votes will be to the advantage of the Republican candidate.

The Democratic organ is in a perturbed state of mind because the OREGONIAN has not seen fit to say anything about the two cases in which it charges that votes were illegally cast at the recent election. Perhaps it may be necessary for the Democratic organ to specify exactly what particular cases of illegal voting it condemns; but for the OREGONIAN such a course is altogether unnecessary, since it is well known the OREGONIAN condemns all illegal voting.

Those Tildenite journals which were in such raptures over the reported mistake in printing the Republican tickets in some of the South Carolina districts whereby it was said one of the Hayes Electors would surely be beaten will find something interesting in the dispatches this morning. The lowest Republican Elector in that State has a handsome majority over the highest Democratic candidate.

The doubtful States are only two, now South Carolina having taken her place in the Republican column, and that without excluding Edgefield county, where the Democratic managers returned 2,000 more votes than were cast. If this outrageous fraud is not permitted to stand the Republicans will have all the State offices and the legislature, and will elect a successor to Senator Robertson.

A Charleston paper propounds the startling question: "Are bayonets or ballots to rule in South Carolina?" It appears a little difficult just at this time to answer this conundrum. The White Liners of South Carolina have in their own hands to determine which it shall be. If they persist in forcibly preventing ballots from ruling, they may rest assured bayonets will rule.

A Utah paper tells of a man who was rash enough to undertake the task of figuring out the result of the Presidential election from the contradictory dispatches received. He worked at it 18 hours, at the end of which period he retired to the insane asylum, escorted by two or three officers.

The South Umpqua is rising. From Wednesday morning until evening of the same day last week the river raised eight feet, and since the water has been climbing up the banks of the river at the rate of about one foot every twenty four hours.

CITY.

WASHED AWAY – During the past week Canyon Creek became a roaring torrent owing to the immense quantities of rain which has fallen. Some distance beyond Canyon Gardens the channel of the stream became choked up last Friday with fallen timber and drift wood which was borne down by the force of the accumulated waters. The impediments continued to increase and finally became so jammed in as to effectually dam up the water. As the channel at that point passes between two high hills, there was no avenue through which the waters could escape a very large quantity had collected. Just below this dam stood a building built directly over the channel of the creek. The building is owned by a man who has been carrying on for some months a sort of fulling mill or an establishment where blankets and carpets were washed. Fearing that the pent up torrent might break away from where it was confined and sweep down against the building with destructive force, the proprietor of the establishment set several men and boys to work at the dam to cut an outlet and allow the water to escape gradually. While these persons were so engaged, the mass of driftwood suddenly gave way. So great was the force of the water that it carried everything before it, sweeping the logs and drift wood with great force against the building. One side of the house was washed away and the building inundated. An immense quantity of drift was driven into the house covering the floor several feet deep. In a short time the flood had spent its force the water disappearing and leaving a wreck behind. A small boiler and engine used in removing the machinery was completely submerged and considerably damaged. We learn that the proprietor of the establishment had in the building at the time of the disaster a large quantity of [illegible] ...ding, which belonged to various [illegible] in the city, that was undergoing the [illegible]. Most of this is badly damaged and [illegible] wholly useless. Saturday and yesterday several persons were employed [illegible] out what they could from the [illegible]. As yet the loss to the owner can [illegible]; but it will be quite heavy. [illegible] was a great public con[venience], and should the owner not be able [illegible] it will prove a loss to the whole [illegible].

UNWORTHY OF BELIEF. – Reports were in circulation on the streets yesterday to the effect that the bark Garibaldi, which sailed from this port a few days since bound for [illegible] via Honolulu, had foundered [illegible] heavy gale. The report ran as [illegible] that a [illegible] had just arrived at As[toria] from the Sandwich Islands which had [picked] up a man clinging to a wreck far out [at sea]; that the survivor said he came from the [illegible], which had been lost at sea during a storm. No further particulars were given. After the most diligent and persistent effort to track down the fugitive rumor, we have not been able to ascertain any definite or [reliable] information concerning the report. Mr. Macleay, of the firm of [Corbitt] & Macleay who is the owner of the [vessel] has received no notification of the matter [illegible]. The Garibaldi went to sea the 8th inst., and at present writing [is] 1,000 miles from land. The whole [story] bears with such an air of improbability and lacks that degree of certainty which [makes] the rumor entirely unworthy of credence. Until some more definite information [is received] the whole story must be regarded [as the] fabric of a dream."

GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL. – [illegible] says "The Bishop [calls] the attention of the clergy and [laity] of this jurisdiction to the approaching Thanksgiving Day (Nov [illegible]) for offerings in kind [for the Good Samar]itan Hospital. He hopes [that] efforts will be made, and that [they will be pro]ductive of substantial results. [The products] of the field, the orchard, the [garden, the da]iry, are all needed, and will [be thankfully] received. The Bishop de[sires that each] clergyman will give notice of [it to] his congregation, and by the [appoint]ment of a suitable committee, or in [any way] secure an offering from all [who can be] reached. Beside the vegetables [and] fruits, groceries, etc., that are [wanted, fur]niture, beds and bedding are re[quired for] the two new wards that have just [been] [illegible]. It is hoped that this call will [meet with] a liberal response from those whom [God has bless]ed with the good things of His [providence] in the past year. It should be re[membered] also that a collection is to be made [at] Divine Service for the Indigent [illegible]. 'Bl[essed] [illegible] be the man that pro[videth for] the sick and needy.'"

FROM THE CENTENNIAL. – Mr E W [illegible] who returned here on the last steamer [from] [illegible] visit to the East, writes as [follows]: "Oregon and the Centennial [illegible] I found Oregon well represented at the Centennial, except in fruit which [on account] of the long voyage was not in good order (looking from a Webfoot standpoint). Yet there was no fruit on exhibit that could [compare] with it. I could often hear the [remark], 'That beats all.' The finest fruit I ever saw,' 'Oregon is the place for me,' &c. The exhibit of Oregon production at the Centennial has done more towards advertising Oregon in its true light than all the pamphlets ever [illegible] published. If we had direct railroad communication with the Atlantic States it would be difficult to take care of the emigrants who would flock to our State. I must [say] the last legislature by its actions [illegible] the valuable services rendered by [Oregon]'s commissioner Hon A J Dufur to [whom] with the aid of Messrs DuBois and [illegible] [is due] all praise."

RAILROAD BRIDGE BROKEN. – Sometime during Friday night the heavy rains caused the earth on which rested the timbers supporting bridge No. 16, at New Era, above Rock Island [illegible] to wash away, thus rendering [the] bridge impassable. When first [known] the trestle work had fallen away [illegible] was given the Albany express [illegible] and the regular southbound train Saturday morning, and no accident occurred. The [trains], [coming] in opposite directions, on meeting at the bridge, made the necessary transfer of mails, express and passengers and but little delay was occasioned. In the afternoon a train was [dispatc]hed from here, which went up to the portage and brought down the mail and [passengers]. Some delay was occasioned [by] the returning train not reaching here until [illegible]. The damage to the bridge is [illegible] and will be repaired in a few days. A large construction force was engaged yesterday in making the needed repairs.

THE S. T. CHURCH. – Capt Cochran's new [steamboat], S. T. Church which was launched a few days ago below the city, is now lying at [illegible] wharf. The hull is finished and the upper works are partially completed. The [engines] are on board and the boiler will soon follow suit. The dimensions of the new boat are: length over all about 170 feet, beam 35 feet, hold, 5 feet. Her carrying capacity is about 600 tons, and when loaded the steamer will draw on even keel only 3 feet. The cylinders are 17 inch bore and six feet stroke and will furnish abundant propelling power. The S. T. Church was built expressly to run [between] Portland and points along the Upper Willamet. The work is being crowded forward, and the boat will be ready to make the trial trip within four weeks from date.

ACQUITTED. – In the State circuit court In the case of the State vs George C Sears Charles [Seaman] and J W Eaton charged with the crime of manslaughter a night session was held last Friday evening. At 10 o'clock the [test]imony closed and both sides rested in the [case] until Saturday morning, when the case was argued at considerable length. Judge Shattuck then delivered his charge to the jury and the case was submitted to them for [consideration]. After being out but a very short time the jury came in with a verdict of not guilty. The defendants were discharged and their bondsmen exonerated.

SMITH'S WHARF. – The wharf which is at present in process of construction at the foot of Salmon street by W K Smith Esq will be when completed one of the most useful and substantial improvements of the city. The work is being pushed forward as rapidly as the unfavorable state of the weather permits. Most of the heavy timbers for the first story have been framed and raised to their proper position. In the course of a month or six weeks the wharf will be covered and [illegible] [fin]ished.

UNDER ARREST. – On complaint of A D McDonald three sailors named respectively John Hovey James Worsam and John Duffy were arrested Friday night or rather early Saturday morning. McDonald alleges that while he was passing the low and disreputable saloon on First street known as the "Blue Light" he was suddenly set upon by these men who caught hold of him and forcibly rifled his pockets taking away $1[illegible]. As soon as released McDonald blew the whistle. Two officers came running to the spot but meantime the men ran off down street. Hot pursuit was given and the officers soon succeeded in overhauling the fleeing men and escorted them to jail. Saturday morning the cases were called in Police Court and continued until this morning. The story told by McDonald is not a very plausible one and it is believed that the men under arrest are innocent of the charge.

LAUNCHED. – A new steamboat has been built at the upper sawmill and was launched a few days since which when completed will run on the Lower Willamet and Columbia rivers. This craft is so to speak a continuation or a revised edition of the old steamer Carrie which has been lying about these waters for so many years. The hull and most of the upper works are entirely new while the boiler and engines of the Carrie will furnish the motor power. The craft since being launched has been lying at the foot of Yamhill street, where the boiler and machinery will be placed in position. The new craft is a shade larger than the old Carrie and is a very neat and handsome little steamer. Mr Louis Paquet is the builder. We are not aware what name the steamer will hereafter bear.

PRESENTATION. – On Saturday evening Mr Henry Dobinson celebrated the twenty fifth anniversary of his birthday by inviting a number of his friends to an elegant repast in the parlors attached to Sol's restaurant. Messrs Bray and Roos furnished music during the period while the company were discussing the viands. Before the close of the festivities Mr Arthur Wilson arose and in behalf of the friends of Mr Dobinson presented that gentleman with an elegantly finished album, prefacing the transfer with a few timely remarks. The gift was bestowed upon a gentleman who has made a host of warm friends during the brief time he has resided in Portland.

QUICK TIME. – The new boiler which is to be used on board Capt Cochran's boat—S T Church—is not only one of the best boilers ever brought to this State but was built and shipped to its destination within a shorter period we venture than any other ever sent to this part of the coast. The boiler was put up in Wilmington Delaware. The order was sent by telegraph from here, and on the sixty fourth day after the order was transmitted the boiler was laid on the wharf in this city. Quick time that.

The Salt Lake Tribune of the 31st October contains the following: We are indebted to Scott & Anderson for the following statement of ore and base bullion shipped from this city during the week ending Saturday the 11th. Ninety five cars 11,841 bars 1,011,441 pounds and 1,030 pounds of ore

J D Rhea has met with the misfortune to lose a raft of splendid spruce logs about 1,000,000 feet in all on the Naselle emptying into Shoalwater Bay. The raft was intended for the South Bend Mills. They went on to Sand Island where they were at last accounts partly covered with sand and a very doubtful chance if any of them could be saved

The Walla Walla Watchman says: Most of our citizens will remember an old gentleman and his sons who lived here last winter by the name of Penticost. He came here a year ago last summer intending to locate and make this his home but concluded he could find a better country somewhere else and left early last spring. He wandered all over the Sound country then went through California and Oregon but at last determined to return and locate. When on Wild Horse he left his wagon and went away a short distance to find a good place to camp and upon his return he looked in his wagon and found his wife lying dead

WASHINGTON TERRITORY ELECTION

The official count shows that Walla Walla county gave Caton 55 majority and Columbia county gave him 30. We learn from private source that Yakima gave Anders 43 majority and Whitman gave him 40. This puts Anders 24 ahead with Stevens to hear from

Mr Duff who is down from Whitman county informs the Watchman that the official returns have not been canvassed in that county. It is claimed that there was illegal voting in one of the precincts and upon the precinct being counted or thrown out depends the election of John Davenport or Lewis Wringer for Representatives. Sam Stevens Democrat was elected sheriff over Taylor Republican

The Watchman (Dem) says: From the best information we can get we are compelled to admit that Jacobs is elected Delegate to Congress for another term. In this county the official count gives Judson 103 majority, Columbia county gave him 43 majority. As near as we can learn Jacobs got 49 majority in Yakima and 50 in Whitman. This would leave Judson only 99 majority in these four counties, with Stevens yet to hear from. So far as heard from Jacobs is 248 ahead

We find the following paragraph in the Chicago Drovers Journal of Nov 3 1876 and publish it for the benefit of our cattle raisers:

Last week the first Oregon cattle ever received in Kansas City were sold for 3½ cents per pound. There were 100 in the lot and averaged 1372 pounds. They were driven from Oregon to Ellis Kansas and thence shipped via the Kansas Pacific railroad

To Worry the Liver

At [first] injure the system generally. take blue pills and calomel. To regulate it and endow the entire system with healthful vigor use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Billious invalids which of these two recipes will you adopt? We doubt not the latter [illegible] you will avoid the disastrous consequences which the persistent or frequent use of mercury entails and [will] initiate the desired reform in the action of the biliary gland without danger, as well as speedily and thoroughly. The Bitters invariably remedy yellowness of the complexion and whites of the eyes pains in the right side and under the right shoulder blade furred tongue high colored urine nausea, vertigo dyspepsia constipation heaviness of the [head] mental despondency and every other manifestation accompaniment of a disordered condition of the liver. The stomach bowels and kidneys also experience their regulating [and] tonic influence

We often see a large stock of cattle which do not seem to thrive and come out in spring poor all for want of something to start them in the right direction. One dollar's worth of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders given to such a stock occasionally during the winter would be worth more than an extra half ton of hay

The Daily Oregonian.
MONDAY MORNING, NOV 20, 1876

AN OPEN LETTER.

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 17, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your daily issue of Oct. 25th, C. H. James has again brought up the case of Rev. J. James, and accuses me of falsehood, insinuates embezzlement and complains that I "failed to point out a single false statement in his former article. I did not attempt to "point out" because I did not wish to be personal; but said, "I will make my statements, give the references, and leave your readers to 'point out' the discrepancies between my statements and the statements of Mr James and others. (I quote from memory, as I have never seen my article in print—could not find it in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN, where I saw the article of Mr James.) If Mr James had been a gentleman he would have done one of these things, accepted my statements as true, or took my references and proved them false, or stopped this controversy. But as he will do neither, if you will grant me space (for it requires more space to answer a question than it does to ask one), I will answer his questions, verify my former statements and by his own witness prove that C. H. James is guilty of a willful and deliberate falsehood, and, first, it is not true that I had anything to do in the location of Rev. J. James, either in the cabinet or before the committee. This Rev P. M. Starr (now presiding elder of Portland district, who was a member of the cabinet), told "Father James" when he refused his certificate of location, and called him "bull-headed" for insisting that I did. But C. H. James insists that I was the cause, and finds his evidence in the fact that I was the committee appointed by the Bishop to ask him to locate; and to make this appear, has garbled my statements by quoting one of my closing sentences, and concealing the statement upon which that sentence was based. Here is his quotation: "Mr. Driver says after consultation it was agreed that a committee ask Bro. James to locate, and I was appointed that committee." It is true "Mr. Driver" said this, but it is also true that he said more. And here let me remind C. H. James of the old and well tried adage, that "half a truth is a whole lie." The whole sentence exonerates me, states the cause, and gives the reference. After stating no presiding elder was willing to take "Father James" I said, "Bishop Peck said, poor man, he stayed in the California conference till no place could be found for him." Then comes the concluding sentence, quoted by Mr James, "after consultation it was agreed," etc. Does C. H. James want higher evidence of "unacceptability," than this? If he does I refer him to the report of the conference committee whose names and report he gave in his last article and call his attention to the fact that "Rev. J. W. York," (one of that committee) was a resident of Corvallis all the time that "Father James" was pastor of that church, and was well qualified to give testimony and make a true report. Add to this the testimony of Bishop Peck, who had been a member of the same (California) conference with "Father James," and knew his standing well.

Mr. James asks "why it was if 'Father James' was indolent, spending so much of his time at stores and the postoffice neglecting his duties, he should be sent back to such a good appointment for the third year with an appropriation of $100 missionary money." To this I answer, Rev. L. T. Woodward was put down for Dallas and the $100 for his benefit. Just as the cabinet closed, the bishop took Rev. Woodward from Dallas and sent him to Olympia. When "Father James" refused to locate, the law of the church compelled the bishop to give every effective man work, and as he did not think him competent to take charge, he sent him junior preacher to Dallas, and the $100 was overlooked. After conference I called the attention of the bishop to the oversight and asked his instructions. He directed me to pay the $100 to "Father James," as Rev. Nichols was not to leave Dallas and get his support from the school. I cannot assign a positive reason for the bishop's action, but from his statements in and out of the cabinet, as I am reputed good authority in "courts of equity," venture the suggestion that the bishop gave the $100 as a slight remuneration for the imposition, the law of the church compelled him to practice on some charge. I paid "Father James" $50 for six months' service, and when he left, Mr. Nichols went out and did all the work, and, by the advice of the quarterly conference, I paid him $50, which the Oregon conference approved. Mr. James, or his representative, can see the receipts at any time. This answers Mr. James' insinuations of embezzlement. Again, Mr. James says, "Let me ask Mr. Driver why it was that" Father James was denied the right of appeal by the Bishop at the Salem conference, in 1875? Let him propound this question to Bishop Peck, and if the bishop will obey the scriptural injunction and "answer a fool according to his folly," Mr. James may be gratified; but he will please excuse me for not answering for other men. Besides, I have never heard of Father James taking one step toward an appeal. Instead of appealing from, he has always been appealing to, the Oregon conference. A bishop has no power to refuse an appeal, and Mr. James has never appeared before the proper body, and "Father James has never appeared before any body."

Now, Mr. Editor, let me quote the law "Father James" violated, and show the whole responsibility has been with him, and introduce Mr. C. H. James' own witness to prove he has testified falsely. Here is the law: "No elder that ceases to travel without the consent of the annual conference, certified under the hand of the president of the conference, except in cases of sickness, debility or other unavoidable circumstances, shall on any account exercise the peculiar functions of his office, or even be allowed to preach among us. Nevertheless the final determination in all such cases is with the annual conference." M. E. Discipline, Sec. 215, page 104. This law, Rev. James violated, and notified his presiding elder in open quarterly conference, that he never intended to go to an annual conference nor take another appointment, and just before conference when asked by his senior minister, Rev. Nichols, what he wanted the conference to do with him, replied, "let them do as they please." He was not present at the next conference, and gave no other instructions. The conference had to do something with him; he had refused to take work, left it with the conference, and you see by the law he was given the lowest penalty. But I admit the conference was to blame for not preferring charges, and doing it lawfully, and I said so at the time. Now, why does "Father James" send a man to howl around the Oregon Conference? If he desired to continue his standing in the conference, why did he not have his case represented, and if he now desires an appeal why don't he carry up his proceeding before a higher tribunal? As well might a man having a case in the circuit court, let judgment go by default, and then send a broken-legged, stump-tailed, one eyed dog, to bark 'appeal' around the circuit court house to annoy the judge.

When I made a full statement of the case giving references, why did not C. H. James, instead of accusing me of falsehood appeal to the persons I referred to and prove my statements false? This he never attempted, but in one instance, and in this I will now prove, by his own witness, he has stated a falsehood. He says: "Rev J. F. DeVore, who was presiding elder and in the council, says had it not been for I. D. Driver there would have been nothing of this difficulty." In his former article Mr James says Rev. J. F. DeVore told him so. Since the publication of Mr James' last article, without any solicitation on my part, I received from Rev. DeVore a postal card, of which the following is a true copy.

ALBANY, Nov. 2 1876.

Rev. I. D. DRIVER, Brownsville, Oregon—Dear Bro: As to C H James using my name in the OREGONIAN, I am happy to say that he is simply mistaken as to my saying that "had it not been for Mr. Driver there would have been no trouble." Kind regards to all.

J. F. DEVORE.

For a long time C. H. James and his 'Father' have had a secret plot formed to injure me. Failing in this, deliberate falsehood is now resorted to as seen by the testimony of their own witness.

I. D. DRIVER.

The Roseburg Plaindealer says: "The farmers of Missouri Bottom, a few miles south of Myrtle creek have been crowding things during the late spell of fine weather. Rev. J. Howard informs us that he counted no less than fifteen teams all within less than a mile hurrying up to get the seed into the ground. Four plows were generally followed by a party on horseback sowing, and one team harrowing."

The Postal Commission.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 18.—Gardner G. Hubbard, chief of the congressional postal commission who arrived by last night's train, announces that the object of their visit here is to learn from merchants, bankers and prominent men generally what they thought of the advantages to this place of the fast mail service between New York and Chicago, and whether means can be devised at a reasonable expense to shorten the time between New York and San Francisco, say one day between New York and Omaha and one day between Omaha and this city. Also what additional mail facilities the people of California have a right to expect from the department.

Fatal Accident.

Yesterday afternoon Willie Cronin aged 10, was thrown from a gravel car on which he was standing at Brooklyn station by the shock of an engine backing against the car, and the wheels passed over his body killing him instantly.

The Lick Trust.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—The declination of John H. Lick to serve on the board of trustees of the James Lick trust, has been recorded in the recorder's office, and is one of the steps necessary toward a satisfactory settlement of the Lick estate.

After the Illegal Voters.

The U. S. grand jury was discharged to-day. They brought in true bills against the following persons: Michael Ahern, for attempting to fraudulently register himself as a voter on the 26th of October; William Cochran, for attempting to do same thing election day; John J. Maher, same charge, and Timothy Sheehan, Wm. Thompson and Lawrence Doyle, for a like offense. A true bill was found against Ferdinand Grauttord on a charge of subornation of perjury, and one against Lewis Borremann for perjury. These two are the individuals who tried to get naturalization papers in the 12th district court, having resided here only four years, and the witness, whom he paid $2 to swear him in.

Defaulting Pension Agent gets in for It

A true bill was found against H. C. Bennett, defaulting pension agent, charged with converting public moneys to his own use. U. S. District Attorney Coghlan has commenced action in the circuit court against Bennett and his bondsman, to recover the amount of his defalcation ($23,744 64) with interest and costs of suit.

Catching the Road Agents.

SHASTA, Nov. 18.—Under Sheriff Robert Kennedy, assisted by Constable Barrett and L. D. Bickford, yesterday arrested John A. Tony, in Hot creek valley, about 80 miles from here. Tony is one of the highwaymen who has been interested in the three stage robberies in this county during the last two weeks. The officers now have three men in jail, two besides Tony, who they are confident are right men in the right place. It will be remembered that Tony was one of the Marysville Bank robbers, two or three years since.

Burglary.

CHICO, Nov. 18.—Last night the safe of Reily & Hubbard, hardware merchants, was broken open by burglars. They went through both doors, using drills, and made a good job of it. They got about $2,000 in silver. One of the robbers was arrested in Oroville to-day and another on the Cherokee stage.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

Lake County.

ASHLAND, Nov. 18.—Mr. George Conner, of Linkville says the vote of Lake county was officially counted on the 10th inst. Tilden has a majority of 65 and Lane 79. The county seat is taken from Linkville to Lakeview, in Goose Lake valley, by 61 majority.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A Reuter's telegram from St. Petersburg states that in pursuance of a partial mobilization of the Russian army, preparations are now being made for the mobilization of the sanitary corps. Moveable hospitals are also being got ready. Committees of ladies have been formed on the model of those who worked with so much success during the Franco-German war for private nursing of the wounded. The Empress of Russia and the Grand Duchess, it is stated, have assumed the patronage of the association. It is improbable that Gen. Tchernayeff will return to the command of the Servian army in the event of the Russians being driven to action, as his whole conduct in Servia has not given satisfaction in official circles here.

The Cologne Gazette's Paris correspondent says a principal obstacle to the war seems to have been removed. The Rothschilds are said to have promised to advance Russia money. The loan will not be public. Russian credit on change to be so favorable that the Rothschilds can easily dispose of the loan privately.

PARIS, Nov. 18.—The statement that the Russian telegraphic agency had denied that the Czar made a speech to a number of officers at Tzarkoe-Selo on Wednesday, during which he said, "Let us wish the best success to the commanders of our armies," is incorrect. What the agency did deny was a previous report circulated on the London stock exchange that the Czar had made a pacific speech to the Imperial Guard.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Servian minister of war has resigned and Col. Gruich has been appointed his successor.

Prince Milan has sent a special envoy to the Czar.

The minister of the interior, in a speech before the Hungarian Diet, declared the government's Eastern policy.

ROME, Nov. 18.—A telegram from Constantinople, received here to-night, says Turkey agrees unconditionally to the conference.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Terrible Cyclone in Bengal.

LONDON, Nov 18.—A Reuter telegram from Calcutta states that later accounts say that 120,000 perished during the cyclone which passed through Eastern Bengal on the 31st October. The government is taking active steps for relief of the distressed population of the district.

OBJECTS.
This Savings Bank has been formed at the desire and under the auspices of thirty one gentlemen citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become stockholders therein along with certain other gentlemen in Scotland to supply a want hitherto much felt, namely an institution where similar to those in California, the working farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territory (to which the Bank's operations are limited) secured from Mortgages over City Properties, Farming and other Lands for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the Industries of the North Pacific coast.
The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities their policy will be to guard depositors' moneys and the stockholders' capital by loaning only on first class securities, high interest being a secondary consideration. The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business, confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted, such as real estate loans, advances on bonds, assignments and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value; hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone, or Bills of Exchange and such like.
Security to Depositors.
The security for repayment of Depositors' moneys is twofold:
1st. Not only the mortgages, assignments, bonds and other pledges on which the Bank's deposits are carefully loaned and the real estate secured thereby, which must be located in Oregon and Washington Territory, but also
2d. The Bank's own $300,000 capital specially pledged for the safety of depositors, in order that all losses (if any) shall be made therefrom, thus forming a double security for depositors' moneys.
No charge for entrance fee or pass books.
Deposits received from $1 00 and upwards.
Rates of interest on application.
Hours, from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.
Certificate of Incorporation, Constitution, Articles of Association, Regulations and By laws for depositors, may be seen at the Bank's office.
